More than 20 years ago, I set my heart and mind on the belief that being a servant leader would be the most honorable career I could choose for myself. Having been introduced to the world of clubs through a CMAA student chapter, my belief became realized as I launched into what has become a fulfilling career in club management. I ask myself; how can I give back to an organization which has given me so much?

Humbled by the experiences that have been afforded me to work with incredible leaders in the business, I have learned my talents are only valuable if I can pay it forward to something larger than myself. I wish to contribute to CMAA in a manner that supports the longevity of a career in the club industry. I’m passionate about diverse recruitment at the grassroots level in our Student Chapters, I value earnest and honest mentorship of our young professionals and role reversal mentorship to our most experienced members also. I wish to be a part of our strategic future by challenging the status quo and finding new ways to partner with different associations which support other professional roles in our clubs.

I believe now is a seam in time where we have an opportunity to renew our industry and reignite our passion for servant leadership, not only in our clubs but to each other through CMAA. I would be honored and humbled to be given a chance to serve in this capacity on our Board. You can count on me to contribute in balanced and meaningful ways—never self-serving, but for the greater good. It would be a career-long dream, realized.

Other Activities

Mentorship	I have mentored more than 20 young professionals to help them discover their authentic leadership calling. Some have stayed in the club management business, and some have not, yet all have pursued their true passions through maintaining the mentorship relationship. This is a core value of my leadership that I also continue to pursue for myself through all stages of my career. I would bring this same tenacity for constant evolution if given an opportunity to serve on the National Board. I believe it is an essential component of progress.
2022	Committed to the Club Foundation Chairmen’s Fund
